

THE FALSE SPIRIT GUIDES

(Part IV)

(Poem)

-by Brian Edwards

They could very well

Be all around us

All the time

The ones that are not

True spirit guides

But are in fact

False spirit guides

Setting out

To communicate

Carries its own abundance of dangers

Certainly

The false spirit guides

Are one of these dangers

The false spirit guides

Who can shatter a reality

With voices

Voices

Voices

Voices

Rain or shine

Voices

Voices

Voices

All of the time

At first

They may seem

Like friends

But the false spirit guides

Are no friends

What they do

Is no awakening

Its intrusion

Its story lines

Story lines

Story lines

Story lines

To fill your mind

With obscurity and dread

Don't believe it

Remember

You don't have to believe it

The false spirit guides

Can't force you

To believe anything

And if you be observant

You will find

There's a lot of things

They can't do

But they wouldn't want

You to know this about them

They'd rather

You believe their lies

The false spirit guides

Always talking

Some story
